

Product Change Notification

Dear Valued Customer,

We extend our sincere gratitude for your continued support of Panasonic. Your loyalty and dedication to Panasonic products have been vital to us.

Please be advised that Panasonic will transition the marking method for our POSCAP (Conductive Polymer Tantalum Solid Capacitor) from the current UV ink marking to laser marking.

The replacement parts for the UV ink marking equipment have reached the end of production, making it increasingly difficult to maintain the existing specifications. As a proactive measure, Panasonic will implement laser marking, a process that has already been adopted for certain POSCAP products.

This change will not affect product characteristics or durability. However, there will be minor modifications to the displayed information due to the laser marking process. The expanded marking capability will enable the inclusion of additional data, thereby enhancing traceability of production history post-delivery.

Below are the details of the affected products:
